Happy

Being happy means surrounding yourself with people or things that make you feel good, and leaving out everything that does not bring serenity.

HAPPY is the new transmitter that easily changes its look to adapt to your style.

Its simple and essential design also recalls one of the most famous historical periods, the 1950s. The hints in shape and the spirit of the product are to rediscover the importance of essential things, of the joy of living, and of being together while making a promise one to another to make each other happy.

It's time to change our style. It's time to be happy. Choose to be Happy.
